HONGKONG, FRIDAY, JUNE 12, 1891.

Build your house first, then sit down and consider its cost and its suitableness. This is the principle on which the government of Hongkong is conducted. After the great smallpox epidemic of 1887 1888, there was a lond outery for an spidemic hospital. The Sanitary Board interested itself in the question and appointed a committee to consider the subject. The result of the committee's deliberations was the building of the hospital ship Hyging. That vessel was completed a few months ago, and the Sanitary Board has new started to discuss the propriety of utilizing it. The Colonial Surgeon, one of the members of the committee that recommended the building of the Hygeia, bas evidently arrived at the opinion that the vessel is of little practical use. It is a pity he did not arrive at that upinion before the building of the beat, but of course, to have done so, would have been to go out of the ordinary official course of procedure. The two hospitals, the English and the Chinese, are quite sufficient, he thinks, for the accommodation of smallpox cases, except perhaps The barometer is now rising at Hongkong | when there is an epidemic, of which there years. The expense of putting a staff on board the boat would be very great, and the arrangements would have to be made for receiving patients on land and transporting them to the hospital-ship. launch would have to be procured and a great many other things done. Moreover, the Government, although quite willing to give the money to build the Hyggiz, will not spend a cent more on the vessel, either deeming that a mistake has been made, or Nizam left Bombay for this port on Sed

but the feelings of the Celestial, whose customs and habits it is our supreme duty to foater, must not be disturbed. So think the fossilised officials of the Sanitary Board. Dr. Cantlie thinks differently; and while we cannot support his contention that more money should be spent on the Hygeic, considering that enough has been thrown away already, we most heartily endorse his 9 a.m.—Excursion trip by Honam to interpretation of the duty of the British Government of this colony towards the Chinese in it. If we are to be deterred from introducing sanitary reforms because the 4 p.m. Election of Two Members for Chinese object, the sconer the Union Jack is hauled down and the Dragon hoisted the better. The only moral right of our existence here lies in the civilising power we Goods per Bantam undelivered after exercise over the native population. If we refuse to carry out our mission, because we are too lethargic to face opposition, the inevitable result will be that the Chinese will conquer us, as they have virtually conquered the Manchus. That is to say, we shall become 'Chinafied,' a process that may be observed at the present in full operation, if we study some of our officials. The Chinese oppose all innovations. They have been wound up, adjusted to a certain order of things, and out of their ways of working they will not move until force is used. That force need not be applied in a Quixotic manner, in the belief that the Chinese nature can be revolutionised all at once. The process is necessarily slow, and we must not be discouraged because results are not immediately obtained and many obstacles are put in our way. In the event of an epidemic breaking out, it is eminently desirable that the patients suffering from the infectious disease should be segregated, and that the building or buildings where they are should be under the control of a medical practitioner who has received scientific training. With a little firmness the prejudice of the Chinese will soon be overcome. A mistake has evidently been made in constructing the Hygeia, and peras heretofore, free of Extra Charge, to haps the best thing to do is to definitely consecrate her to the purpose she now serves—a police station. There would seem to be plenty of space within the Civil Hospital grounds for the segregation of FOR COAST PORTS, Waters are packed small-pox patients; and we think experience has shown that, with proper precau, Packages and Empties when received in tions, there is no more danger in treating small-nox cases in the centre of a town Counterfoil Order Books supplied on than there is in conveying patients to the outskirts of a town or to a ship lying in the harbour. Abundant accommodation might also be found within the precincts of the Tung Wah Hospital ; but ne would suggest, if it is deemed expedient to allow small pox cases to be taken there, that the Government should insist on the impection of the Hospital by European physicians, if it were only for the purpose of enforcing proper measures for the segregation of patients. If another great epidemio did occur and the available space in the Civil Hospital buildings and the Tung Wah Hospital were fully taken up, perhaps the Hygria might be got into a condition for the reception of patients by the time the epidemic

A with and exciting tale about a discovery of gold comes from Lo Kwong Tun, a delectable spot near Whampon. The man who made the discovery is described as a 'duck farmer.' but his talents appear to be far above his avocation. He became alarmed recently by an extraordinary BANCOCK v. The story has been current among the Chinese in this colony for four or five days, and the duck farmer has becom famous, while the duck, in the capacity of a goldhuder, has risen consider. ably in public esteem.

THE departure on Friday of Mr John Walter, the late manager here (Shanghai) of the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank, severs, says the N.-C. Daily News, the last link that connected us with the old hands. Mr Walter joined the bank in 1865, and has assisted its gradual rise to the paramount position it now holds. In the posts in the Sauk that he has held, he has always been a 'Shanghai man,' and his well-deserved popularity, wherever he has been, has reflected credit on Shanghai. He carries with him the good wishes of a large circle who have found him always a good friend in business as in social life, and it is with great pleasure that we learn that we shall see him back here in a few months, for a visit at any rate, as inspector of the Bank.

THE OPIUM QUESTION.

On the other hand your Committee tunately the tipaes and runners interfered records with feelings of deep solicitude at the eleventh hour and an unicable ar- the facts, based upon observation and rangement was made which was satisfactory statistics, that the cultivation and conto both parties. It believes the authorities sumption of native opium in China are. to take measures to guard against any rapidly increasing. For the evidence of these facts we refer you to the testimony of missionaries and native Christians in China and the report of Sir Robert Hart of 1887. Sir Robert tells us that the consumption of native opium has assumed large proportions during recent years. From the report it appears that foreign opium is used in a small degree compared will the native, which fact proves that the consumption of opium is argely on the increase, for we learn from another part of the report that in several places where the native point had put in an appearance that it did not affect the sale of that which came from India. It will thus be seen that the time for re-axing our efforts has not yet arrived. You the call is for still more strendous efforts. The magnitude of the task before us in seeking to abolish the opium traffic in brought the more vividly before us when we remember that not only is a large proportion of the Indian revenue derived from the opium traffic, but also considerable portions of the revenue of Hongkong, Singapore, Penang and other places directly governed by Britain or under British pro-

Owing to the falling off in the number of emigrants, and other causes, the opium farmer at Singapore was losing money very heavily. The Government decided to reduce the amount paid him by $20,000 per month or $240 0:10 per annum. The cent of the onium farm formerly agreed upon was 81 351 000, which is now reduced to $1,111,000 per anuum, and the farm is leased to the same farmer for three years, viz. 1892, 93, 94 at the sume rental. In H ng Kong the opium form is leased

$477.600 per annum, as against $182,400 per annum, for the preceding three year. This increase in rent is said to be largely due to the prevention of smuggling. In India the nett annual revenue for the last few years has been about £4.500.000. In other places also large sums are raised for a period of 3 years from March 1889 at for revenue from the colum truffic. The magnitude of the evil and consequently the magnitude of the task before us is also seen in the fact already partially a luded to, viz. that the practice of indulging in opium is largely incre ing in India. Ceylon, China, Bruma, the Straits Settlements. Borneo and the Islands of the Pacific.

In Japan and Corea opium has been rigorously prohibited. Whether as a result of that, or not, we do not pretend to BRY. but the fact remains that the commercial prosperity between Great Britain and Japan furnishes a str king contrast to the stagnation or even retrogression of the commercial relations between China and Great Britain.

The difference between the fe ling en tertained towards foreigners in China and Japan, the prospects of mission work in the two countries, cause us to reflect and ask whether the difference is not to some extent at least to be accounted for by He the fact that Japan has been left free to exclude o inm. whelst pressure has been | brought to bear on China to admit it. Your Committee firmly believe that if again the nation could reach such a height of Ohristian magnanimity and self-sacrifice rgarding the opinin traffic she would be still rumpus here. Confirmation of the telegram we published on Monday is given in Shanghai papers received by the Ningpo to day. The place, however, where the murders took place is not Wuhu, but Wahsich (there was some doubt as to the reading of the telegram) near Kinkiang. The N.-C. Writing on the same day, our contemporary says :- It is pointed out that the account which we published on Saturday of the recent riot at Tanyang-which bas been following by the destruction of some seven Oatholic churches in the neighbour-Lood-is a curiously complete illustration of the theory of these riots advanced by Mr Drummond in his recent letter to us. It is evident that the crowd was not an ordinary disorderly mob, excited by the common anti Christian stories and blindly bent on destruction. The crowd was carefully organised, and proceeded in the most methodical manner, its intention being to destroy the foreign property, but not to injure the foreigner. The opposition was to the military mandarin who came to the priest's assistance, not to the priest himself. Indeed, the tables were turned in the most curious manner, for the priest actually went to protect the mandarin from the violent denunciations of the mob, and was told, 'I have nothing to do with you, want to settle with him.' This was letting the cat out of the bag with a vengesuce. and the fact that, when the rioters were masters of the situation and the pries: reired to the Chihsien's yamen, through the crowd, he was not even insulted, is a striking confirmation of the opinion that the movement is not against missionaries or foreigners. But it may take this turn, and therefore it is that the amplest measures should be taken for protecting foreign lives and property. The mob may some day get
